PRIVATE WIRE Mr. Wilkins told how one of those involved. Ivan P. Christensen, assistant cashier at the time, became the operator to buy and sell secutiles, with a private wire from the offices of one of the brokers to his desk. It told also of the use of a call-money fund in the operations of the group of officers.

"These transactions were not handled by the bank, but by Etton D. Graham, vice-president and cashier, as an individual," he said. "This was among the lax practices that prevailed but that now have been corrected."

prevailed but that now have been corrected."

When the stock market crash came, Mr. Wilkin said the group sought to evade detection by carrying as "items in transit," represented by fake drafts, the amounts they had taken to purchase stocks. "Believing the first big break in the stock market was a temporary setback," he said, "they tried to carry on. It was then that Graham took out more call money to belp the pool, $350,000 this time, but even this was not sufficient to stave off disaster."

The statement told how the group usually got together after banking hours, occasionally in the directors' room, at the bank.

"They bought etocks about which they thought they had real information," it went on. "While their doom came in the recent crash they also lost heavily in the bull market so they suffered up as well as down. They were caught badly in seiling Radio short."

PROGRAM LAID DOWN

The report of the special naval committee headed by Admiral Moffet to recommend the site for the hangars to house the two naval dirigibles now being constructed at Akron still is before the general board of the Navy. No decision apparently has been reached and the report may not reach Congress until the regular session opens December 2.

Whatever the decision of the general board on the various sites considered, it will be difficult for them to overcome the program laid down by the Secretary of the Navy, who wrote on May 16, 1929, an answer to an inquiry as to the final site for the permanent housing of the navy dirigibles.

"In order to arrive at a decision as to the general locality deemed most suitable for the establishment of such a base," he said in the letter, "the Secretary of the Navy designated the General Board of the Navy Department to make a careful study of the situation and to submit recom-PROGRAM LAID DOWN

Situation Growing more Serious With Forecast of Further Rains

MIRAGINCHAM (Ala.) Nov. 15. (37)—With one drowning reported, Alabama's flood situation grew more serious tonight. Weather forecast for the next twenty-four to thirty-six hours, bringing an added burden to major streams of the State, many of which already are overflowing and, inmudating lowlands. The death was reported from Sheffield, Ala., where S. L. Nathan, 38 years of age, lawyer of that city, was drowned last night in the high waters of the Tennessee River when his hunting boat capsised. William Gamble, in the boat with Nathan, was rescued at 2 am today after clinging for hours to the overturned boat. He was almost unconscious when found.

"Sin embargo", dijo Porter, "si en lo venidero tengo que exigir su dimisión a algún miembro de cualquiera de las comisiones municipales, verá éste que no tiene más remedio que presentaria, pues los tribunales me apoyan, como se acaba de ver."

"Por lo que hace al fallo", siguió diciendo, "ciaro se deja ver que el juzgado ha confirmado mi opinión de que, según nuestra constitución municipal, el alcalde de Los Angeles está facultado para remover a cualquier empleado, con el consentimiento del concejo, y sin necesidad de expresar la causa.

"Me complace sobre todo esa decisión, porque en ese punto discrepaba yo del modo de ver del abogado municipal, quien sostenía que el alcalde tenía que subetanciar sus razones para separar a los empleados de nombramiento."

No matter what other stocks are selling for in the market, E. B. Reeser, president of the American Petroleum Institute and head of the Barnadail Corporation, thinks the oil shares will soon find their stride and sell at prices to discount the shifting of the American petroleum industry into econocate balance.

Mr. Reeser offered this comment yesterday at the Barnadail offices in the shifting of the American petroleum industry into econocate balance.

yesterday at the Barnsdall offices in this city. He is here on business connected with his company's op-erations in California and on mat-lers pertaining to the conservation program recentif put into effect in this State. He has just come from Texas, where he conferred with conservation leaders in the West Texas field.

reased in barrels of oil, are surreased in barrels of oil, are surrisingly large.

"How many people," Mr. Reeser sixed, "realize that crude-oil projuction in the United States has seelined from the peak on August 54, last, of nearly 3000,000 barrels taily to 2,631,300 barrels rs of the 9th inst.? And this is not all. The effects of the California curtailment are only beginning to show, and I would not be surprised if the figures issued by the institute on next Tuesday, showing production as of the 15th inst., were around 2,500,000 barrels for the whole country."

Accomplished in less than three months' time, this reduction, as Mr.
Reeser states, is certainly the most constructive news the oil stockholders have heard over a protracted period of disappointment in cil shares. If production drops to 2,500,000 barrels, the decline from the peak will be 16 per cent.

Good Dividend Paying Stocks are on the Bargain Counter

The downward movement which took place in the market swept down all stocks without regard to values, earnings, dividends being paid or any standard of measurement.

The improvement, as we have previously indicated, is under way.

Stocks which are selling far below their intrin-sic value should recover. Business is good. There are no storms in the business horizon. The invest-ing powers of the country as a whole have not been Wealthy individuals and the great investment trusts are now in the market to BUY. They are buying for returns.

Great motor stocks are yielding from 8 to 16 per cent on the present price, and selling from six to 10 times their earnings. There is no justification for such a yield. It is logical to suppose that a very marked improvement is shortly in order.

So it is with the great oil stocks and the big mail order companies. We believe that those who accumulate oil stocks at present levels may look forward not only to substantial returns but a very much enhanced price.

There are, in our opinion, many outstanding purchases at present price levels. We have prepared a brief digest of six such stocks, which we shall be glad to mail at once upon receipt of written or telephoned request.

To obtain immediate action we suggest you call at our offices, orther in Los Angeles or San Pedro, at your early convenience.

For your convenience we shall remain open till 9 P. M. each evening his week.

You may arrange to make purchases from 5 shares upward on our Partial Payment Plan of 20 Per Cent Down.

renders all kinds of wood products fire, termite, fungi, dry-rot resistant.

Less than 2000 units of this remarkable issue remains unsold. Each unit, consisting of two shares of preferred and one of common, is sold at an authorized selling price of $25.00 per unit. Owing to the fact that this corporation is only interested in the manufacturing and selling of EONITE, its capital requirements are exceedingly nominal. We anticipate closing our books for subscription Wednesday right, November 20th.

As you may never again have an opportunity of getting in on the "ground floor," on an equal basis with the organizers, of a proposition which offers such unlimited possibilities as this, we can not urge you too strongly to get in touch with us at once.

Aviators' Ball Attended by 750 Couples

Seven hundred and fifty couples attended the aviators' ball held at the steata room of the Ambassador last night. The dance was given under the auspices of American Legion, Post No. 380, of which Maj. Faul Penland was chairman of the committee of arrangements.

The affair was attended by many aviation luminaries of the Coast. Altitude record holders, long-distance and stunt flyers were present. The motive of the decorations was acronautical. A revolving beacon light in the middle of the floor starred and stupped all dances. An awar official had charce of the floor. Multicolored aviation lights shed their glare on the dancers.

The county grand jury yesterday opened an investigation into the affairs of J. H. Roth & Cu., formerly a stock brokerage firm at 681 Bouth Spring street.

Numerous books taken from the place of the record holders, long-distance which will be studied before the rase is closed.

TRAFFIC TRAGEDIES

Measured in terms of unfeeling money the damage caused in the traffic accidents in Los Angeles in the year averaged $40 a bump. It amounted to nearly $4,000.000 in all, so that it may be noticed that there were a lot of accidents. A total of 12,000 persons were injured and 312 were killed. The motor section still reads like a war report. We are always going to be safe and sane, but we seldom are.

SERING THINGS

First thing we know we will have to have sight-seeing busses to accommodate our jurors when they go slumming. It is now the regular thing in the hearing of cases in the courts to lug the jury out to the spot where the body was found or where the guy was parked when the lady bit him. The jury doesn't have to envisage anything with the mind's eye. The twelve are loaded on a truck and permitted to feast on the real thing. Anyhow, it must help a lot in sizing up the details of the affray. Otherwise the idea would not be so extensively indulged.

SEZING THINGS

TOR BETTER BENCHES

There is an eager and earnest movement in favor of bigger and better benches in the parks of New York. If a sitisen is foreced by circumstance to seek lodging in the park it is thought to be good practice to make the benches reasonably soft and comfortable for such service. The backless bench of hardwood is to be barred and something provided by way of substitute that will permit the filler to loaf without undue hardship. Porsibly there is a suggestion for municipal government in this idea. Why not build our park benches for somfort instead of merely endurance?

The Senate has lost, in the opinion of competent observers, at least 50 per cent of its reputation as a great deliberative body and has retreated almost completely from its former field of statesmanship and dignified, result-getting debate. The depths to which it has descended were never better illustrated than when its committee on lobbying recalled Joseph R. Grundy, veteran president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers', Association, io demand of him a list of the Senators he thought the Senate would be better off without.

of him a list of the Senators he thought the Senate would be better off without. Grundy, who discovered that his jok-ing offer of a few days before was be-ing taken seriously, endeavored so close the incident by withdrawing his re-marks. But the height of absurdity was reached in the proposals of some Sena-tors that he be declared in contempt of the Senate if the list was not forthcom-ing.

the Senate if the list was not forthcoming.

The opinions of Grundy about the fitness of various Senators to hold their jobs ought not, of course, to have any influence on pending legislation, and no Senator could contend that it should have without admitting that its majority of the Senate at the present time is more interested in personalities than in the welfare of the nation. Grundy has learned that it does not do to be jocular when there are men present lacking the saving grace of humor The insurgent-Democratic conlition seems to be animated at present by no motive save that of trying to take revenge for fancied slights.

The best way for Senators to escape ridicule is not by seeking to punish those who poke fun at them, but by ceasing to be ridiculous. This is difficult advice for many of the present Senators to take, of course.

If Grundy had been talking seriously, he could, of course, have been refuted about his contention that the trouble with the Senate is that there are "backward States" in the Union. Many of the smaller States did in the past send fine, influential, upstanding, statesmanlike men to the upper branch of Congress, and the larger and more populous States have not always been impeccable. Wyoming, one of the smallest in population, was for years represented by Senator Warren, who wielded great influence and reflected credit on his nation as well as his State, and there were many similar examples. And if the western and less developed States have declined in the quality of their representation so have some of the Eastern States. Compare either Copeland or Wagner of New York with Elihu Root, or compare Fess of Ohlo with either Forwards of the course. Where is the New England Senator today who is the equal of

And Pennsylvania herself not long ago sent Vare to the Senset, though he has not been seated.

The reasons for the decline must be sought elsewhere than in comparative population and industrial figures. It seems to date in fact from the passage of the Sevententh Amendment, providing for the direct election of Senators, who previously were chosen by State Legislatures, and from the spread of the direct-primary idea, which took place about the same time. Legislature elections and convention nominations had their faults, and grave ones, but on the average they resulted in the picking of a better grade of men than the present can defend to any geographical locality or section.

S PEAKING as the father of a gang, PEAKING as the rather or a gang, we feel it our duty as a citizen to emit an outery against tin toys. Feeble our voice may be, but we can at least feel we seen our duty and done our best.

When we were a boy, and all children we re

children were practically per-fect, Christmas

fect, Christmas came but once a year. We got toys then, and tried to keep them till the next Christmas. We treasured them as the immediate jewels of our souls. At birthdays we got more personal gifts—ties and picture books and maybe skates or pocket knives. But toys were given only at Christmas time, and the stores didn't operate toy departments at any other time.

Now every big store in Los Angeles has a toy department which does a land-office business the year around and the five-and-tin stores must buy toys by the ton rather than by the gross.

Dangers of Tin Toys

Dangers of Tin Toys

And toys aren't what they used to be. "Gimme a dime—I want to buy a dittle toy," begs the smallster. He gets his dime and trots away to the toy store—for where is there a town too small to have a toy shop now? He buys a very pretty little airplane or automobile or something similar—and often breaks it on the way home. So he begs: "Gimme another dime—I want to buy another little toy."

We actually believe it has something to do with American psychology, American carelessness. Tencent toys, which may be had any day or even twice a day, do not inapire carefulness or respect. They inspire the spirit expressed in "Let's break this one and get another one. Maybe we'll like it better."

Short-Lived Joys

A few years ago we thought cheap toys a bleasing—thought they brought joy into the lives of poor little kids such as, in the old days, never knew the poor what it was to own choo-choo what it was to own choo-choo cars and toy horses. But a multiplicity of cheap things never have been as good, or as good for one, as one good thing. Give the kiddles toys, by all means, but remember this while doing your Christmas shopping early: Toys which go smash at the first opportunity bring grief as surely as they bring joy when presented, and cheap the toys often inflict nasty cuts, to boot. And maybe if you give the kiddles fewer and better toys they'il learn to take care of things, and so become exceptional children.

was altogether unlikely from the start.

For some strange reason which psychologists cannot altogether explain, the impulse some people have to confess the crimes of others appears to be a very strong one. There is seldom a murderer condemned that some one else, usually with no visible reason for doing so, does not proclaim him innocent and admit the crime himself. In no one case in a

The Associated Telephone Company, which unites the Long Beach, Santa Monica and other telephone companies, is said to be the first to take advantage of the new State law under which many corporations will be "limited" instead of "in c or porated."

Heretofore the word "limited" after the name of a business concern has suggested that it was a branch of an English company of limited liability.

Probably Charlie Cohan, who writes those deep and accurate articles about things under the surface of Los Angeles business life—at least, many business men have told us they are exceptionally accurate—could tell us all the whys and wherefores of this limited stuff; but we made the mistake of asking a lawyer, instead. He's a first-class lawyer, too. But just between friends, as we were no cash customer, he was perfectly frank with us.

"I know there is some brand new law about the use of 'limited'," he said, "but I don't know a darned thing about it. There are so many new laws that nobody knows all about all of them. There was a time when a lawyer could know the law, but now he must have a staff of assistants to look it we for him. That's one reason ne must nave a star of assistants to look it up for him. That's one reason for the high cost of lawing. Every energetic legislator who gets a few more laws on the books makes it cost just a little more for the average man to get justice."

HIGH-POWER WRITER
Devotees of the Nick Carter thrillers will find much interest in the facts recently brought to light about this prolific writer, John Coryell, by his son and admirer, Russell M. Coryell. Speed and concentration to nth power were illustrated in this smallish, modest man who contracted to turn out 1,000,000 words a year, and never falled to deliver a manuscript on time. His son describes him as "a curious mixture of sincere modesty and breath-taking assurance." He wrote under at least a dozen pen names and sometimes carried as many as six serials at a time, writing a chapter a day of each of the six keeping six plots and six sets of characters in his mind. All this he accomplished and turned out high-powered detective thrillers, passish emotional stories that increased the circulation of the street and Smith publications for many years, and after forty years are still sold in story form. On contract to deliver 20,000 words a week, it is said that occasionally he reeled off the 20,000 in the space of twenty-four hours.

WHERE CAN I LEARN Musical Instruments?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

The cultural center of Belvedere Gardens has recently secured the services of J. Ver White, an orchestra leader un der whom protessional musi cians delight to play. The con der whom protessional musicians delight to play. The community meeting place is the Garfield Evening High School on Sixth and Pribson and all expenses are paid by the public schools. A spirit of eager seeking after knowledge pervades the school and newcomers are received into the classes without any formality.

Those who already play well should join the class on Wednedday evenings from 7 to 9 in the auditorium. On Monday evenings, 7 to 9 less advanced students receive free training under this musician, in mandelin, guitar and similar instruments. Both classes are as free to children in the day. People of all ages are welcome, and they will find congenial friends studying the same subjects that they are interested in.

DOES YOUR CHILD GET AWAY company and has to share his at with MURDER IN COMPANY? tention with others, he resents it He cries, behaves in any way so that We are all familiar with the com-plaint, "The children are so good at home but when I take them away they act like little demons." The child learns very early in life that his mother acts differently when strangers are around. In popular lingo, he can get away with mur-der. We can't wonder that under the circumstances he seizes the op-portunity by the neck and holds on to it.

TO WHAT TYPE DOES YOUR CHILD BELONG?

We all know the shy youngster who won't speak, who refuses to say "Thank you." who hides his head in his mother's lap or slaps at a friendly hand. We recognize, too, the little held-down-at-home child who capers about, tears open all the closet doors, opens drawers, pulls things from the table and rushes madly from one attraction to another. He makes the most of this opportunity in the home of strangers to do what he is spanked and slapped for doing at home.

The little show-off is another familiar type. He talks all the time, refusing to let the adults get in a word. When he misbehaves he enjoys the forced smiles and laughter he arouses from indulgent adults who don't live with him, or from arrangers who can't express their true feelings but merely say, "Oh, isn't he energetic!"

company and has to share his attention with others, he resents it. He cries, behaves in any way so that his mother and father, in fact the whole company, will look at him. The show-off belongs in the same class. He is used to adulation, and he has to have it.

Children have to get their practice in playing alone and without constant adult attention when they are at home. Otherwise, they will make their parents miserable on those occasions when it is impossible to give them undivided attention. Ignoring the child when he attempts to show off will do him a world of good, both at home and abroad.

The handling of moke and their presentment in individual close-ups together reveal an ability in direction that amounts to genius. No one appears conscious of acting for the camera; it is as though a newsreel photographer paused to "shoot" a scene and them ran for the camera; it is as though a newsreel photographer paused to "shoot" a scene and them ran for his life.

Charles Klein's film, "The Tell-Tale Heart," adapted from the Peciasio, is a feature of the current bill. Otto Matteen plays the hapless murderer in a Caligari, Current at the Makerit, and promptly at 8:20 o'clock, as the curtain went up, valked out upon the stage.

All week, however, telegrams and messages congratulatory in character have been trundled into the fact the point of the self-side beart.

After an absence of nearly a year and a half, Harold Lloyd is returning to the acreen, making the occasion an outstanding one with his first all-talking picture, "Welcome Danger." This exciting comedy starts at the Paramount Theater

Tork may see it in the spring.

"Rie Riia" a Sell-Out

The Carthay Circle management announces sadiy that there are no more seats to be had for the premiere, occurring Thursday evening, of "Rio Riia," musical extravaganana which presents Bebe Daniels as a talking star. The opening is already a sellout and will break all premiere records at the playhouse, with the exception of those set by starts at the Paramount Theater of the De Mille feature.

An no uncement of the picture to follow "Dynamite" will be postponed indefinitely, it was asid. Since the opening day a week ago, attendance has increased daily with the result that its run must be extended.

The new picture's success is attributed in a great degree to word-of-mouth advertising, for much discussion is said to have been aroused by the entry of De Mille into the field of talking pictures. A further element of interest lies in the fact that "Dynamite" serves to introduce two new acreen personalities in the persons of Kay Johnson and Charles Bickford.

Theater Record Set by Gloria Swanson Film

Swanson Film

A new house record for the United Artists Theater has been set during the past week with Gloria Swanson's first all-talking and singing picture as the feature attraction, according to a report. The picture is at present playing at the Rialto Theater in New York City, and a report received by the Swanson Company here states that it likewise broke all existing records in that house in its first week.

Trial of Herbert H, Selph, 43year-old oil worker and former bor-der patrol officer, reached the half-way mark yesterday in Superior Judge Pricks's court when Dep. Dist.-Atty. Perguson rested the State's case. Beight is charged with the shooting, September 3, last of Mrs. Georgia Oreggins Bowman, his reputed sweethear.

The defense opened by introducing a statement made by Seiph to deputy sheriffs following the shooting of Mrs. Bowman in front of the latter's home in Watta. Through the statement Defense Altorney Stutaman hoped to show that Seiph was intoxicated and knew nothing of the shooting that cost Mrs. Bowman her life.

Salvation Army 'Life Savers' to be Boy Scouts LIEUT. HENRY charge of trail Station, told them

Live Saving Scouts, the boys' organization of the Balvation Army, has become an integral part of the Boy Scouts of America. The charter, signed by Herbert Hoover, Calvin Coolidge and William Howard Taft, becomes effective at once. Heretofore the work of the two organizations has been separate.

One of the large groups taking part in demonstrations of young people's work tonight in Trinity Auditorium, where the Salvationists of Southern California will hold their annual meeting, will be the Life Saving Scouts, or, as they are to be known hereafter, the Boy Scouts of the Balvation Army.

The demonstration to be conducted under leadership of Commissioner Gifford tonight is open to the public after the reserved sections have been occupied. There will be Scoutcraft Cirls' Guard and Corps Cadet exercises, closing with a pantomime, the Indian legend of "St. Anthony."

page appeal filed with the court by Alexander C. Gray and other Hollywood property owners against the decision of Superior Judge Yankwich upholding the regularity of the proceedings under which the "Five Finger Plan" was carried out. The appellants have twenty days within which to file a brief in rebuttal.

No proof ever has been offered, according to the city's brief, that the proceedings were started by an unoufficial committee of dighteen men, who had no assessments to pay in connection with the work. It is also argued that the assessments for the street opening and widening program, which amounted to more I than #1,000,000, were levied equitable.

Trial in Slaying of Woman at Hall-Way Powers the street opening and widening program, which amounted to more I than #1,000,000, were levied equitable.

Trial in Slaying of Woman at Hall-Way Powers I was the closing arguments Monday, and with accepting the 2000 from McDonald following a raid to the latter's establishment last January, They denied receiving any money from the reputed bootlegger and estified they took in his ecould not "fix" them.
